

Remi Adeleke

Actor, Author, Writer/Director, Producer

About Remi Adeleke:

Remi was born into riches in Nigeria, but following the death of his father and the unjust seizing of his family's wealth by the Nigerian Government, Remi, his mother, and brother permanently relocated to the Bronx, New York in 1987. After years of making regrettable decisions, Remi enlisted in the Navy in 2002, serving as a corpsman with 1st Marine Division and later joined the Navy SEALs where he specialized in combat medicine and HUMINT (Human Intelligence/tradecraft). Ending his successful naval career in 2016, he was led to pursue opportunities in film/tv consulting, directing, writing, and acting, including the 2017 franchise film

Transformers: The Last Knight, SEAL Team CBS, the Universal thriller directed by Michael Bay, Ambulance, and the Lionsgate blockbuster The Plane. Remi can also be seen in a recurring role on Amazon's TV adaptation of the New York Times Best Seller Terminal List. As a consultant Remi worked on Netflix's 6 Underground, Apple+ TV series Invasion. Remi is the host and Co-EP of the Down Range narrative Podcast, which will be distributed via Tenderfoot TV/iHeart Media in the Fall of 2023. Additionally, Remi was one of the hosts of the UK hit series, Who Dares Wins and its U.S. derivative Special Forces: World's Toughest Test, and is the upcoming host of Omaha Productions/History/Hulu new series Beyond The Battlefield. As a filmmaker, Remi wrote and directed The Unexpected, which is a 32-minute short film that uncovers an international organ harvesting ring. In addition to the short he has written and will be directing the feature length version of the short, titled, Unexpected Redemption for G-Base. Remi wrote and directed a long form commercial for his thriller debut, Chameleon: A Black Box Thriller, which published July 25th 2023, as well as its acclaimed Short Film of the same name. Remi produced the upcoming Fall 2023 documentary Hero, alongside multi-E Emmy winner Nick Nanton. As a screenwriter Remi co-penned the adapted teleplay for Slave Stealers, which highlights abolitionist, Harriet Jacobs. He also wrote The Chameleon screenplay and finally The Last Shall Be First screenplay, which tells the untold true story of the first group of African Americans to serve in U.S. Special Forces and the integral but forgotten role they played in the retaking of South Korea from Communist forces. Mr. Adeleke holds a bachelors in organizational leadership and a masters in Organizational Strategy, both from the University of Charleston West Virginia. As an educator he co-founded Muskegon Michigan's OPS academy that opened to inner city students K-8th in Fall of 2022. Remi's incredible story can be found in his HarperCollins bestselling autobiography, Transformed: A Navy SEALs Unlikely Journey From The Throne Of Africa, To The Streets Of The Bronx, To Defying All Odds.
