

Kent Weaver, CRPC

Private Advisor, Senior Vice President

Rockefeller Global Family Office

Kent has served wealthy families for over 20 years. Kent focuses on customized investment management, building sustainable multi-generational wealth transfer strategies and comprehensive estate planning techniques. His team at Rockefeller has successfully guided multiple business owners through the sale of their business, executives through the IPO process; and has helped many families plan for a meaningful retirement and the transfer of wealth to their loved ones.

Drawing on his experience as an entrepreneurial pioneer in the wireless telecom industry, Kent offers firsthand perspective of the challenges entrepreneurs and corporate executives face in handling their financial affairs.

Originally from Colorado Springs, Colorado, Kent received a Scholarship from Arizona State University and competed as a NCAA, Division I Gymnast. He earned his Bachelor of Science degree in 1982 from ASU.

Kent serves on the Board of Directors for the C4 Foundation, a non-profit benefiting Navy SEAL families.

Kent lives in Scottsdale with his wife Tami. They have a daughter and twin sons. In his free time Kent enjoys skiing, travel, golf and spending time with his family.
